To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for Erin Delger, a task I take very seriously.

I have had the pleasure of having Erin Delger as a student teacher in my classroom this winter.

Erin is an honest, straightforward, high energy level person who continually finds time to help others. She works very hard at organizing her day with students to meet the learning styles of all the children, so they experience continued academic success. Erin, as one of 5 teachers in third grade, has done much to motivate her colleagues. She implemented STEM activities to help enrich content area subject matter, which the students enjoyed.

Erin spends time with students who have difficulty with behaviors. She addresses behaviors by discussing, modeling, and observing the behaviors of children at-risk to prepare them for difficult situations. Miss Delger modifies, adapts, revises, and restructures learning situations to teach the students that success can be achieved with endurance. She is a fair, firm, friendly, and consistent educator who keeps student learning as the focal point.

Miss Delger is well equipped to grow from challenges presented to her. Because of Erin's strong work ethic, high energy level, and positive attitude, I would recommend her for any position in which she applies.

If you should have any further questions about this candidate, please do not hesitate to call (701) 400-0999 or email me at chantel.mckay@k12.nd.us.

Sincerely,

Chantel McKay

It is my pleasure to recommend Erin Delger for a teaching position. I had the pleasure of being her student teacher supervisor for her elementary student teaching experience in third grade at Beulah Elementary School in Beulah, ND.

I'm pleased to say that Erin did well in her third grade classroom. She was able to relate to her students and motivate them to learn. She had no problems with classroom management and was very comfortable in front of her students. Her students enjoyed having her as their teacher.

In the time that I have worked with Erin, she has proven to be very dependable and hard working. She worked very well with her cooperating teacher. Erin is a team player and also worked well with the other staff members at Beulah Elementary. She has a good work ethic and professionalism. Erin was open to feedback and suggestions from both her university supervisor and cooperating teacher. Her lessons were both creative and engaging. She is very genuine about wanting to improve her teaching skills. She was organized and carried out lesson plans in an efficient manner. Technology was used frequently and effectively.

To Whom It May Concern,

This letter offers my complete support of Erin Delger as she applies for a teaching position. I've known Erin for two years, as an advisee and as a student in education methods courses at the University of Mary in Bismarck, ND. Erin has demonstrated tremendous effort and growth throughout the courses. She has a combination of a positive attitude and the belief that she can always improve that is uncommon in students but so essential to the learning process. I am confident that she will continue to display the same commitment and diligence in everything she does. Students are always Erin's priority, making her an excellent addition to any school.

During her time at the University of Mary, Erin completed a series of practicum experiences. These experiences have allowed Erin to implement lessons, work on her classroom management, and receive feedback from a licensed teacher and a university supervisor. Erin has taken the feedback and applied it to enhance her teaching style. She consistently pushes herself to be her best and often will go above and beyond the expected to guarantee that all students are learning.

Erin developed a rapport with students, peers, and faculty that is characterized by mutual respect. She has a quiet confidence about her that is calming in the classroom and an asset to any school. That being said, Erin will stick up for what she believes in and is not afraid to be an advocate for her students. She is a consummate professional and a true joy to be around.

Erin is a trustworthy, reliable, and good-humored student who supports others in and out of the classroom. I'm confident that Erin will continue to demonstrate the same diligence, perseverance, and optimism that she showed myself and her peers. Please feel free to contact me with any further questions at lrMiller@umary.edu or 701-355-8107.
